Response to Arguments

1. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 24-25 and 32 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

2. Claims 23-24, 32 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over the combination of Chauvel et al. (US 6,369,855) and Okada et al. (US 6,181,870) and further in view of Lenihan et al. (US 6,169,843).

Regarding claims 23-24, the examiner incorporates by reference the last action against the claims 23-24 and 32, which have been amended to further recite the limitation,

Art Unit: 2621

"said bit stream data containing transport packets with time stamp information", recited in combination with an existing limitation,

"a receiver configured to receive encoded bit stream data to provide received encoded bit stream data," and

"a control unit configured to generate a time relation table relating to the transport stream packets".

The combination as applied provides for the table and receiving a transport steam having the newly recited time stamp information, met in view of the MPEG 2 transport stream data structure received having plural time stamps, but, fails to particularly mention recording in the received transport stream format.

The examiner cited Lenihan that teaches recording and reproducing transport streams to and from a storage device, col. 2 for example, renders obvious to record and reproduce the transport stream format, col. 2, "The ... transport streams may be recorded on or played back from a DVD, tape", as taught by Lenihan and further teaches recording and reproducing in real time transport streams at rates suitable for used in a wide range of multimedia applications (col. 2, line 52- etc.....).

Lenihan further defines the scope of transport stream, by stating, "The term transport stream", as used herein is therefore intended to include both MPEG 2 program steam and transport as well as other packet based data streams formed in accordance with non-MPEG standards, as stated by Lenihan.

Therefore, it would have been obvious to those skilled in the art at the time of the invention to modify the combination by conforming to the transport stream format, such as MPEG 2 transport stream format and recording and reproducing in the MPEG 2, transport stream format, wherein as is known that the MPEG 2, transport stream format data, has an added advantage of error resilience, by having error correction coding and real time R & R, as is known to those skilled in the art, as taught by Lenihan.

Art Unit: 2621

Also as suggested by Lenihan, the limitation of transport stream encompasses MPEG 2 and well as others, including the suggestion that transport stream, reads in a program stream, met by all the art provided, Okada, Lenihan and Chauvel.

Allowable Subject Matter

1. Claims 25, 27, 29-31 are allowed.

Conclusion

2. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
